Great and Useful Invention.
No more Mortality for want of Water.
Sure wealth to Estancieros
By the Robert Apparatus.
Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long (secas) that afflict the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate to the Estancieros an Apparatus at a price simple and infallible for procuring as much water as they may require.
120 Bordaiezas per hour (it seems fabulous) is procured with my apparatus, without fear of at any time its getting out of order.
This machine is worked by one horse and in one day's work can give 144 Bordaiezas; that is to say, sufficient water for 20,000 head of cattle.
By these figures can be calculated the immense advantages gained by its use.

Another advantage is the facility of putting it together and taking it to pieces, so as to be able to transport it to any place where it may be necessary to use it, either for watering purposes or others.
GREAT MODIFICATION.
I have made an improvement in my Apparatus, applying a new system which reduces the necessary force two thirds, giving it at the same time more rapidity.
Those interested can see it at Calle Moreno, No. 346 (Henerado, Paris.)
One sole inspection of the Apparatus will prove to them the superiority of it over any other.

IMPORTANT FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE MOHICAN.

The American war steamer Mohican arrived in this port on Tuesday evening from Rio Janeiro, where the English mails January 9th had already arrived.

War between France and Russia is hourly expected, and a general conflagration throughout Europe, excepting Great Britain.

The general elections will soon take place, but it is possible Lord Palmerston may be continued in power.

The Federal and Confederate armies have been drawn into winter quarters on the Potomac, and it is supposed the war cannot last over six months.

Iron ore abounds everywhere, and there is a large smelting establishment at Ilcey, founded by Government in 1854.

Among the wild animals are the ape, monkey, wild boar, jaguar, puma, tiger, cat, and fox.

Everything indicates that the war is virtually over, and we shall probably soon hear of a pacific arrangement, restoring the union.

Mr. Edward A. Hopkins has left London for New York, to occupy his post of Argentine Consul-General.

As this republic seems destined to rank third as a cotton-growing country, it is important that my readers in Manchester and elsewhere should have some more accurate information than is contained in geographical and gazetteers however recent.

Paraguay is situated between 22 and 27 S. Lat. and 55 & 58 W. Long, including an area of 70,000 square miles or 45 millions of acres, rather more than double the size of Ireland.

GENERAL REMARKS ON PARAGUAY.

Asuncion, January 1864.

As this republic seems destined to rank third as a cotton-growing country, it is important that my readers in Manchester and elsewhere should have some more accurate information than is contained in geographical and gazetteers however recent.

Paraguay is situated between 22 and 27 S. Lat. and 55 & 58 W. Long, including an area of 70,000 square miles or 45 millions of acres, rather more than double the size of Ireland.

the Misiones; and with the Indians on the W. for the unconquered wilds of the Gran Chaco.

The population is very unevenly distributed, not more than one third (22,000 sq. miles) of the country being settled on, or occupied in tillage or pasture.

There are few large towns in the interior: Villa Rica, however, almost rivals Asuncion in the number of inhabitants, and when the railway shall be completed, it will receive an extraordinary impulse.

The climate is warm and dry, the soil fertile and yielding in abundance all the fruits of the tropics.

The night attack at Colon is but a repetition of stratagems, ambushes and sallies. Mars and Venus are the tutelary deities, and masked batteries pour forth volley after volley, dealing destruction around.

On Monday the battle slackens, and it is observed that the spirit of former years no longer animates the degenerate men of to-day.

The mortality was slight: an old gentleman in the N. end who saw his son falling from one of the entrenchments ran to his aid and both perished.

For some days the gallant youths and fair dames of the city will recount their personal feats, bawling that the spirit of former times is dying out, and calculating perchance the cost of the campaign.

Carnival is over: it was very tame this year. The respectable citizens went on 'pic-nic' excursions, &c., and with few exceptions, the play was confined to the rabble.

Yesterday, being Ash-Wednesday, was the beginning of the Holy Season of Lent: we hope it will not be profaned by bloodshed, on next Sunday, at the elections.

To-day the English mails are to arrive, as Captain Carlewis promised. The Mersey arrived on the 11th twice, since 1860.

To-morrow the French packet leaves; our packet edition will be published to-morrow. A special edition containing the S. Fernando inauguration, is ready priced $4.

The mails from Cordoba bring nothing of importance, except an attack on the Cabildo, in which the rioters were worsted and put to flight, and a young man of good family killed.

General Paunero came from Rosario, per Pavon, landing at Zarate, in order to make an electioneering tour of the camps.

HORRIBLE POLICE OUTRAGE.

Attempted Assassination by a gang of Police.

I, Carlos Burnego, hereby certify that I have miraculously escaped from the attempt to murder me in my own house, by the alcalde and his company of eight men, to whom I refused to sell ten dozen of beer on credit.

The alcalde, Pedro Garcia, 7th section had purchased from me on former occasions large quantities of beer, and I found some difficulty in recovering payment. On Sunday, 7th inst. about 4 p.m. he sent an order for 10 dozen beer, marked paid, to my establishment, situated in calle Uruguay, No. 333.

I do not keep a 'palperia,' but an 'repartidor' of beer, selling at wholesale prices. On receiving the order I went to the alcalde's house, but found him at the pulperia of the corner, where the 'patrola' were drinking. I told him respectfully that I could not send him any more beer, as he was still in my debt; hereupon he burst into filthy expressions and struck me with his fist in the chest.

I rushed out into the street, followed by the alcalde; just then the 'patrola,' who is 'teniente alcalde' ran out with a drawn sword, and all the 'patrola,' armed with pistols, knives &c. As I saw my life in danger I ran towards home, and got into my room just as the Alcalde and his gang entered the gateway, shouting 'kill the gringo, kill him.'

They then came up the ladder leading to my room, while I and my wife placed ourselves against the door to prevent their breaking it open. Meantime one of the ruffians got upon the adjoining 'azotea,' and effected an entrance through the window. He attacked me, seizing me by the hair of my head, but I succeeded in throwing him on the ground, where my wife held him down. As they were on the point of breaking in the door, I rushed out on the azotea, and they fired at me, but luckily missed their murderous aim.

I must state that I had been already slightly wounded in the hand, some of the gang firing through a space under the door while I was wrestling with the ruffian in my room; another ball at the same time cut the breast of my shirt.

I leaped from the azotea into an adjoining yard, a depth of 15 feet; while the alcalde and party getting on the azotea began to throw bricks after me, but I escaped, and gaining the street ran for my life, till I reached a friend's house four squares distant. I kept about 150 yards ahead of my pursuers, and had just found shelter when the alcalde of another section, who happened to be in the house, demanded what was the matter? I told him I was unable to speak, but would accompany him whither he liked, whereupon he arrested me. While we proceeded down the street we came to meet my pursuers, who immediately attacked us; my companion drew his sword, and a regular battle ensued, when a colonel who lived hard by came to our aid. The fight continued for several minutes, my companion receiving and inflicting wounds. At length they desisted, and I was taken to Garcia's (the alcalde) house; none of the gang being arrested, Garcia came home and apologized to me, stating 'it was a mistake on his part,' and releasing me same night.

Some of Garcia's gang, after my escape from the azotea, entered my room and beat my wife savagely with their swords, until her sister-in-law came to her rescue; she was coming up the ladder, with a child in her arms, when the ruffians threw her over, and it is a miracle that the fall did not break her neck.

I demand justice from President Mitre, and hope some steps will be taken to defend life and property, not leaving a poor man at the mercy of an alcalde's squire, because he refuses to trust him some bottles of beer.

ESCAPE OF CRIMINALS.

The murderer of KILBY free.

On Monday 8th inst. at 2 p.m. six murderers under sentence of death succeeded in effecting their escape from the public prison in Plaza Victoria, by placing six tables one over another, and crossing the wall. Of the number was the famous assassin José Oscar, who murdered Kirby and Deyere at V. Mercedes, under pretext of passing the night at their 'rancho.' It will be remembered that the authorities to arrest him, and the Irish neighbors hired a man named Hilario Chaves who at length captured him, with the boots and watch of poor Kirby on his person. This Chaves will be the next victim for Oscar has sworn to kill him: the Irishmen also run a great risk.

Another of the escaped is Juan José Rodriguez alias Angelito, who has murdered six persons at different times. We are informed that the Chief of Police saw them get over the wall, but took them for Carnival players. We hardly credit that he could be so stultic.

but it is a fact these six demons are let loose on society, simply because, as we observed last week, Justice in B. Ayres has been asleep for some time.

BRUCE'S TELEGRAMS.

Every soul in the town playing carnival. Paunero leaves in five minutes in the Pavon, with a Cordovan deer and forty men.

No Crudos in Rosario—all Corridos. Cordova quiet, and nothing new from the provinces.

SUNDAY'S BLOW.

The new Mole-head washed away. The Tramway gone.

Sunday last, the first day of Carnival, was ushered into us with a terrible squall. The wind was so high in the morning that the passengers for Rosario, &c., could not go aboard the Pavon; she consequently deferred her departure until Monday.

The liver Plate waves dashed madly against the new Cazon wall: it would seem as if Nature herself wished to play Carnival, for the spray fell in showers on the peaceful shopkeepers of Paseo Julio. The storm increased towards noon, and an impatient Irish gentleman, who had taken his passage, per Pavon, determined to go on board at all risks, but the boatmen refused to take him to the steamer for less than an ounce, which our indignant fellow-countryman declined to pay.

The head of the new Mole, in front of the Custom-house, was completely blown away, and the river was literally strewn with pieces of that expensive humbug. The main piers or posts are still standing, but every ripple causes them to move, and the enlightened citizens of Buenos Ayres may expect some fine morning to find that the whole of the Custom-house Mole is gone to join Flores.

The tramway has also suffered, but the damage, we are happy to say, is confined to the immediate vicinity of the bridge. On Monday morning the cars could only come as far as this point, and the passengers were obliged to walk the remainder.

Several small craft were sunk in the harbour, but they will be all rescued from a premature demise at low water. The blow was very severe until about four o'clock, when the wind died off. The officer of the Captain of the Port got a terrible ducking, coming in from visiting an Italian barque, which had just arrived; when crossing the bank, at the inner roads, a wave came which made a clean breach over the boat. All hands were wet to the skin.

SLEEPY JUSTICE.

On Saturday we pointed out the sleepy justice of the Argentine Republic, and now we give an instance of two speedy execution of the British law.

On Monday last we recorded the perpetration of a shocking murder in the Waterloo-road; on the next day we reported the examination of the murderer at the Southwark Police court; on Wednesday we published the proceedings of the Coroner's inquest on the victim; and yesterday our readers saw that the prisoner had been brought to trial, had pleaded 'Guilty,' and had been sentenced to death. So rapid has been the course of justice in this case that the offender has actually been condemned to the gallows before the corpse of his unhappy victim has been committed to the grave. -Times, December 17, 1863.

EXTRAORDINARY DUEL.

Our friend from the Globe Hotel, who has just gone up the river, has beaten Captain Maryatt hollow in the way of duels. We all know of the celebrated triangle duel in Peter Simple, but it was nothing to Erin's proposed engagement with four Argentines simultaneously. Such a proof of heroism was never before heard or read of in the Parana, and, barring the intrepid pilot who got his boot into the soup tureen, on board the Paraganay, we doubt if anything to equal Erin's difficulty was ever known in South America. How the row occurred, neither he, nor his adversaries have any distinct notion; but we believe that it arose from our friend's imperfect knowledge of the Spanish language, and his great anxiety to make his Argentine friends understand him. Some question having arisen as to the number of mouths of the Parana, Erin produced a map, upon which all the arroyos and riachuelos were most distinctly marked. After inspecting the map, and Erin proving to the Argentines that he, though only a few months in the country, knew more about the Flote than even Argentines themselves, he opened another map, and began explaining to them the source of the Parana, Uruguay, &c. A roar of laughter from our friend E., who could no longer restrain himself at seeing his four South American friends so diligently engaged at the map, brought about the difficulty. "Don't you see," he says, "that the map before you is India, and the river you take for the Parana de los Palmas is the Ganges." This was too bad. Of course all apology or explanation was out of the question, as E. would keep on laughing most immoderately. On being informed of how matters stood, Erin stated that he would fight the four fellows together, and, writing his name on the back of the knave of spades, he flung it towards them. The affair was to come off in Rosario immediately on the arrival of the steamer. Meanwhile it having leaked out that E. was one of the crack shots in England, and had fought more duels than our friend Daly in the Knight of Gwynne, more passengers got out at San Nicolas than were booked for that place. E.'s plan about the duel was as follows:—The four Argentines were to stand together in a line, they were to use their small 33 brass pistols, which invariably explode; E. was to use his Punjab blunderbuss, loaded with domestics. E. having won the toss, was to fire first, and as there was four to one, he was to have four shots out of his blunderbuss before any of his adversaries were to fire. It was rather lucky for some people that the steamer called at San Nicolas.

NEWS FROM UP THE RIVER.

On Monday evening another fearful dust storm occurred in the neighbourhood of Zarate and the Baradero. To describe it is perfectly impossible—trees were torn up, mud 12 inches was knocked down, and thousands of sheep blown God knows where. The whole coast of the Parana is completely covered with floods of sheep, that is to say the 'barrios.' Farmers from all parts are living in tents with their sheep on these ever green spots.

On Tuesday morning at half-past three o'clock it commenced raining near San Nicolas. It fell in torrents for hours, and the thunder and lightning on the river was one of the most awfully things imaginable; at nine o'clock it cleared off. The camps between San Nicolas and Rosario are in splendid condition, and the lagunas are full.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We have to complain of the usurpation of the plural pronoun by correspondents, when it is belongs only to Kings, Bishops, and Editors.—ED. STANDARD.]

HOW OLD ARE WE?

As Mr. Murray has had the kindness to notice an article of ours, published in the 'Standard' of Jan. 27th, in which we were several mistakes, some of which he has pointed out, induces me again to refer to the article, as we are willing to acknowledge mistakes when we make them. We made a mistake in saying that the sand in the neighbourhood of the Sphinx, which had been blown from off the Great Sahara, has accumulated to the depth of twice seventy feet, which is not the case; it is only about eighty feet, but being much higher than the portion of Egypt overflowed by the Nile, the simoom, in passing over, carries immense quantities of sand, after causing death to the inhabitants by suffocation, and depositing a thicker coat than that left by the Nile, which is only one-twentieth of an inch per year. Such being the case, we said that Egypt would be the last place we would look for proof of the world's age, such proof being based upon a very sandy foundation.

In speaking of the Bible, we said that "its author knew something about geology long before Adam stole apples." To which Mr. Murray replies, "We find in this article, we think, something that is not generally known, that is, that our was a geologist. This is certainly a great discovery." We were not aware that Moses was the author of the Bible, at least of the quotation we made from 1 Cor. Perhaps we have made another mistake in not knowing that the doctrine of inspiration has "exploded," like the idea of an universal flood. We acknowledge also that we made a mistake in saying "that Adam stole apples." It was not apples that he stole, it was fruit; and Adam did not steal them, but Eve stole them for him, and then ate them herself, only giving him a piece. (The corn?)

He says that we "probably have forgotten, or perhaps may not know, that earthquakes generally take place in rocky, and not in level countries." We suppose that Mr. Murray has probably forgotten, or may not know, that one of the most violent earthquakes of modern times took place in the very centre of the largest valley on the globe—a valley, too, renowned for its utter freedom from rocks or stones of any kind. We refer to the earthquake at New Madrid in 1811.

We here make a quotation from a description of the earthquake at Lisbon in 1755, which appears so appropriate that we cannot pass it by:—

"Multitudes of people sought safety from the falling buildings by crowding upon the marble quay which had just been constructed at great expense. It suddenly sunk with them like a ship foundering at sea; but when the waters closed over the place, no fragments of the wreck, none of the boats and vessels near by that were drawn into the whirlpool, and not one of the thousands of bodies carried down re-appeared upon the surface.

Mr. Murray asks if "we believe a Hottentot to be of the same race as we are, and of a common Father Noah?" We answer by saying that if he will visit the low haunts of poverty and vice, to be found in the capital of his native country, as well as in other large cities, he will find Anglo-Saxons, whose appearance and intellects will be as disgusting to him as those of the Hottentot.

It may now be asked—What have we gained? We have gained something like a definite knowledge of Mr. Murray's theory, which, as near as we can judge, is about this—1st. The Bible is true. 2d. There were men upon the earth before Adam, for after quoting a part of the fourth chapter of Genesis, he makes this remark—"It is evident that Cain knew of the existence of other men besides Adam and himself, otherwise he would not have been afraid of being killed. Therefore, the Bible indicates the pre-existence of man before Adam."

Now, as he accuses us of knowing but little of geology, and misquoting the Bible, we acknowledge that we do know but very little of either the Bible or geology, and, therefore, we take the liberty of appealing to Mr. Murray's superior knowledge, hoping that he will benefit us by illuminating some dark points in his theory of composing Scripture with his theory.

If there were people upon the earth before Adam, we want to know why the Bible calls Adam the first man and Eve the mother of all living?—1 Cor., 15:45, and Gen. 2:20.

If there were men and women upon the earth, contemporaneous with Adam, why does God say of him that "it is not good for man to be alone?"—Gen. 2:18.

If there were other races of men before Adam, why does the Bible say that God "hath made of one blood (sima, blood-relationship, race, kindred), all nations of men to dwell upon all the earth?"—Acts 17:26.

If Aggression found the bones of a man imbedded in the rock, 35,000 years ago, it is evident that that man died long before Adam existed. Then we wish to know why the Bible says that Adam brought death into the world?—Rom. 5:12 to 17; 1 Cor., 15:21, 22.

If men died before Adam, why does the Bible specify the time that death reigns over men before the law was given to Moses, as commencing with Adam?—Rom. 5:12.

Did Christ die only for those who inherited death through Adam, being his descendant? If so, why is the command given to preach the Gospel to all nations?—Matt. 28:19.

If we, being the descendants of Adam, inherited death from him, who did the other races inherit death from? Adam also?—Rom. 5:12.

We cannot understand why Noah, acting under the direct supervision of the Almighty, should take such particular pains to preserve all kinds of animals, both clean and unclean, when, according to Mr. Murray's theory, there would have been an abundance of those animals in other portions of the world, where the different races of men were preserved.

We can easily imagine a partial flood caused by the attractions of some large world, like the planet Jupiter, coming in close proximity to the earth, by which the waters would be piled up upon one side, so as to cover the mountains, and rushing forward and back again in their passage from other parts of the world, so as for a time to cover the high hills under the whole Heavens, both in their passage forward and back, so as to destroy all flesh upon the earth, and every man, so that Noah, and those with him in the ark, would only remain alive—Gen. 7:21, and 23. But we find it utterly impossible to imagine how the Hottentot got through the flood.

One word more before we close. We bear no sentiments towards Mr. Murray but those of friendship. We know that we are intruding upon his time, if nothing more, for which we ask his pardon. We understand that a similar discussion has arisen upon the same subject between the editor of the River Plate Magazine and Dr. Fitzsimons, with which we have nothing to do. Mr. Murray, like myself, is a young man, whose facilities for mental improvement have been similar to our own. We prefer to leave older heads to fight their own battles.

Yours, &c., N. E.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE HAMMOCK.—Our fleet surgeon—a pompous, hasty old fellow, but good in his way—was one morning, attended by his assistant, examining the sick and prescribing for them: "sick bay" was filled with patients, whose hammocks were slung in rows. The doctor, being a methodical man, would pass up one row and down the others, prescribing as he went, which prescriptions were noted by his attentive junior. A man with his arms extended on each side of his hammock was caught by one writ by the doctor, who, with watch in hand, counted the pulse, and spoke as follows:—"Very sick, very sick; typhus interictoides" (yellow fever) "in its first stages; must have a mustard bath, then twenty grains of calomel, with pastor oil the usual time afterward." So saying, passed. He finished that row, and started back on the other side. Getting along quite rapidly, he saw an arm thrust out of a hammock, and immediately seized it; as usual, counted the pulse, then took a look at the man's tongue, asked him a few questions, and broke out with, "Oh, you lazy, good-for-nothing skulker? Get out of your hammock and go on deck to work! you're no more sick than I am! I'll have you reported for black-list duty immediately." And muttering about skulkers &c., he was about proceeding when his attendant horrified him by saying, "Doctor, this is James Jones, for whom you have prescribed already on the other side of his hammock. You said then he had yellow fever, and told me to give him a mustard bath and calomel." "Yes, yes; guess I was wrong the last time; did not examine closely enough. Let's see again: h'm! yes; has got yellow fever indeed. Follow up the first prescription.

Carnival.—This festive scene has come to a conclusion, and, as far as we can learn, good-humouredly too. All parties seemed to come in for their share of the heavy wet; but as give and take was the order of the day, there could be no affront given where none was intended. As an instance of one of the scenes that occurred, we mention the following: Three Englishmen, in the Colos, who were executing a "pas de deux," as they thought graciously, but the vigilantes, who sometimes will not see fun, thought otherwise, intimated that they would wish their presence at the Police. On arriving there, one of the Englishmen explained that they had been singing "Pop goes the weasel," accompanying each verse with the "double shuffle," and that nothing offensive was intended. This explanation was deemed sufficient, and on being recognised as subscribers to the "Standard," an apology was made for the rudeness of the vigilantes, and they retired as unruled as before.

Chile.—Affairs between Chile and Bolivia are still looking very black and warlike. It was reported that all political connection between the countries had been broken off, and that the Bolivian Minister had demanded his passport. It is feared that some epidemic may break out, owing to the great scarcity of water. Chile is said to have received from Callao several large rifled guns, which have been lying in that port for some time past, having been ordered out from England, so as to be prepared for any emergency. The Government has been engaged in strengthening the navy. There had been a severe shock of an earthquake in Copiapo, by which several persons had lost their lives. Further particulars were not known.

Mexico.—By latest accounts from Acapulco the fates were rather, if anything, in favour of the republic. The death of General Comenfort was confirmed.

San Juan.—The foreign inhabitants had presented an address to the Governor, requesting him to suspend for some time his visit to the United States. Major Richard has quite approved of all the preliminary works executed by Don Guillermo Bonaparte. The construction of the remaining works is proceeding with all due celerity. The mines of Tontal are still giving a good yield, as also the Sorocayense. The approaching political contests are engrossing public attention.

Cordoba.—The revolution has not yet been put a stop to, but it is generally supposed that it will soon die a natural death.

A Voice from the Deep.—About the end of last year a sealed bottle was picked up near Marsellos, containing the following lines:—"We have been wrecked on the coast of Spain, on 13th Nov. 1863—of 23 passengers who were on board none have escaped."

"B. Macario y Bertrand."

In consequence of a number of well known respectable people having applied to Mr. Vincent, the proprietor of the magnificent Hotel de la Paz, requesting him to open his establishment during the three nights of Carnival, Mr. Vincent has acceded to their request, and begs to advise the 'Dandies' in general that they have at their disposal a place suitable for regaling their lady partners during these three nights. It is needless here to speak of, in high terms, the rich viands and wines which Mr. Vincent has always at the command of his customers, and the prompt service of this truly regal hotel.

BENSON'S WATCHES AND CLOCKS.

Watch and Clock Maker, by Special Appointment, to His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales. Opinions of the London Press upon Benson's Great Clock and Watches in the Exhibition, 1862.

As a sample of English clock work in a large size, the works of this watch are perfectly finished, and the movement is of the most accurate and reliable character. It is a fine specimen of the art of horology, and is well adapted for the purpose of a pocket watch.

No more Scab in Sheep.

Patented by Government. General Store in Buenos Ayres at 255 CALLE BUEN OMBEN.

Store at Villa Mercedes, of Messrs Kautz and Schwengel. Store at Tuyu, Establishment of D. Carlos Geyer.

The shearing time being now over the inventor of the Anti-Scab Specific for curing Cutaneous Diseases in Sheep, and all domestic Animals, begs to inform the Estancieros that it can never be applied to such effect as after shearing, when it not only cures the worst cases, but acts as a preservative against the disease.

The simplest method is bathing the animal, which is sound or affected, in the manner prescribed by the instructions. The specific has been already found an effective remedy for Insects (Garrapatas). Numerous certificates may be seen, showing the high reputation of the Specific throughout S. America. Its low price per cwt. is within the reach of all, 25 lb. sufficient for 500 or 1000 Sheep. It contains no poisonous quality, and is sold at the above Depots. CARLOS GEYER.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,

CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS. Doct. Fr. PONGERARD, of the London University College.

This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronized by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School, where a sound commercial education combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the morals and behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.

The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French, and Spanish languages, History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.

Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, German, Music and Drawing are also taught by special masters.

The situation of the English Grammar School, in one of the most beautiful Quarters of the Calle Larga de Barracas, at the very gates of the city, is one of the most healthy and picturesque of the environs of Buenos Ayres.

For particulars apply for prospectus to the Standard Office, Calle Bolivar 14. Doct. Fr. PONGERARD.

SAVINGS BANK

BANK MAU & CO.

No. 103 calle de Cangallo. — BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mau & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings. The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mau & Co. of this city following the example of their

Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.

CONDITIONS.

- 1st. The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty five dollars currency or one silver dollar upwards.
- 2nd. The interest allowed is six per cent (6 p c) per annum which is liquidated every six months.
- 3rd. The depositor can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.
- 4th. Once the amount deposited exceeds Twenty five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver the depositor if he wishes can open an account current according to the rules established by the Bank.
- 5th. In case the depositor loses his Pass Book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

The want has long been felt of an establishment wherein the frugal and laborious citizen might deposit his savings, so as to incur no risk, and reap at the same time a good return.

This institution is calculated to answer such a purpose extending the benefits of the establishment to even the humblest classes.

Public attention is, therefore, specially called to the manner of subscriptions, and the inversion of funds, according to the rules of the association.

The PREVISORA ARGENTINA will receive subscriptions as follows:

- 1st. On one's own life, in shares of $5 silver each. These subscriptions liquidated at any time at the subscriber's time and option.
 - 2nd. Without loss of capital by death of the insurer. Subscribers will be entitled to compound interest on their subscriptions and the proportional interest for lost by the death of other shareholders in their Class, whose capital, however is returned.
 - 3rd. With loss of capital and interest by insurer's death. All shareholders of this class shall gain compound interest on their subscriptions, besides a proportional part of the capital and interest of all who die in their Class.
- All these subscriptions may be paid weekly, monthly, quarterly, half yearly, or yearly.
- The capital of this Company shall be invested only in landed property (finca), and with the greatest security.
- The Board of Inspection, composed of subscribers, shall have charge of all the operations of the Company.
- For further particulars, apply at the Co's office 87 calle S. Martin (altos) between the hours of 11 — 4; prospectuses given on application. n17
