Court, but we do not recommend you to ask her ladyship to perform that office for you until your husband has quite complied with the negotiations for getting rid of your pork shop. As there are no Drawings made just now you will not lose time.

"A City Clerk"—Always use ink in writing to any gentleman who is in the army. It is a compliment to the uniform, and the omission of slight and capricious courtesies betoken a vulgar mind.

"Ivanhoe"—The celebrated novel of that name is a rather highly coloured story of Ivan the Terrible, of Russia. The author's name was Ivanhoe, and he was a bass singer at the Royal Italian Opera.

"A Greatful Reader"—We are very much pleased at the good opinion you express of us. It is important that we never drink anything but water, but we have many friends who are more moderate in their temperance you can send the pipe of whether at 85 West street. Pay the carriage, or we shall doubt the completeness of your gratitude.

"A Colouner up"—How many times are we to repeat that a gentleman loses first? Is it in accordance with civilization to force upon the weaker vessel the duty of deciding whether or not? Quaintance is to be kept up or not? How to every lady you would like to know.

"R. X. P."—The same answer, stupid man. You are utterly wrong about the etiquette of taking wine. It is true that in the higher circles it is now customary to glance at the hostess when you drink, but, by a general compromise, you do not distinctly address her, but say, in an undertone, "Here's luck!" It may mean a good wish, or that you are fortunate in partaking of such wine; the latter sentiment is not usually ours when dining with the aristocracy.

"A Chaplain" is respectfully informed that we do not keep a register of fighting publicans.

"Dejected"—The sign of a carte de visite and so on, to one of the fellows who advertises that they will copy such things, and she has never been able to hear any more about cart de stamps. Shall we give her a note of introduction to the excellent secretary of the Asylum for Idiots?

"No Bigot"—We think with you that Don Geronimo would be much liked and run and more in accordance with the taste of the age by the substitution of the name of The Cure for the pedantic minute, and we know that many theatre-goers are of your opinion. Perhaps some names will take a hint so eminently based upon observation of popular feeling.

"A Cautious Bystander"—We know that the lady was married, and is a widow, but we are unable to inform you whether she drowned her husband or not. You had better ask her, enclosing stamped envelope.

"Scrutator"—Thanks for the information. We had not been aware that the word "nut" occurs only twice in all the plays of Shakespeare. We have no leisure for verities in the department, but have no doubt you are right.

"Amabel"—A diploma may be obtained at any respectable saddler's. It is a thing used for horses in the habit of slipping their ears, and thus showing mischief.

"Bright Eyes"—As a rule, we decline to promote matrimonial arrangements. We have said so in our advertisements. "Don't" and we agree with Inspector Burchett that marriage is a thing which most people had better let alone. But as you say that you have a good figure, no relations, and 5000 a year, we will mention you at the Clubs. You must not expect too much, when you have so little to give. We will fetch a good price in these days. We might get you a Government clerk, or something of that kind. Can you cook?

"Addled Wigmouth"—Read the first part of our last answer. What do you want to marry for? Learn to fly the flute. Your photograph represents a person quite foolish enough to marry 10000 a year.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT
A flock of three thousand fine mestic sheep has been embargoed in the neighbourhood of Rosario, the pretended owner being a native man, who was unable to account satisfactorily for the sheep, and explain the reason for having such a multitude of shaggy Parties who have lost sheep in the neighbourhood of Salto, Fortin, Arcever, &c., should immediately advise us of the number, and, &c., of the sheep lost, so as we are about to have the sheep revised.

FEDERAL ENLIGHTENMENT.
To the Editor of the 'Times.'
Sir,—The following letter has just been received by a labourer in my employ from his son, a sailor lad of 19, who left Liverpool some months ago as a hand on board a vessel bound for New York, and it is forwarded to you as exemplifying the manner in which the Majesty's subjects are kidnapped on the other side of the Atlantic.

Is there, Sir, no redress obtainable in a case of this kind? I was exceedingly undertake much trouble to rescue the youth from the grip of dastards who would make a cat-paw of the inexperienced, and have not the pluck to light their own battles. Yours, &c., JOHN GIVEN.

Long Island, Dec. 3, 1863.
Dear Father and Mother,—I now take my pen in hand to write a few lines to let you know of my sad misfortune. Having landed in harbour in the city of New York, I was met by a man who called himself a gentleman, but he turned out to be a rascal. He took me to a place and got me drunk, and then listed me in the army of the United States for three years. So I thought that I would write to you to tell you of this. But, dear father and mother, do not take trouble about me, for I hope to be home, and bring money to you. Good bye.

"From your beloved son,"
"I have changed my name to—"
Run off the Rail.—One of the carriages of the train of the Western Railway coming in yesterday, at the Parque station got off the track at one of the curves, and went along in the dangerous manner for about five minutes before the engine could be stopped. Luckily only four of the hinder wheels of the hundred wheels of the saloon car were derailed, and the accident. No persons were hurt.—National

LOCAL EVENTS.
At Laboratory.—It is a remarkable instance of nothing in this world being perfect that all great men are very skinned, and that they show this touchiness more prominently when, by accident, the world has seen said of them by contemptible persons. It is a well-known fact that the late Duke was particularly proud at his whiskers, and that his private motive in opposing the Reform Bill was owing to a small street boy having exclaimed, "Oh, crickey, won't you catch it for stealing the stubble of the sofa." But why mention the stubble of the sofa, when we see that young, amiable, travelled gentleman, the editor of the 'Tribune' lowering himself by taking notice of a mere French editor, that must be the scholastic of that unfortunate Frenchman, when he finds himself upheld to obloquy? From what we know of him, we are led to suppose that he, like the colored party, Topsy, will rather pride himself in his scholastic than otherwise. Well may Don Hector wring his hands and shout (should he know Hebrew), "Oh, trumpety oh, woss't! woss't!"

At the College.—The preliminary examinations of the students of the Colegio de San Concepcion Argento has been annulled. The province is quiet. General Rojo had arrived at Salta.

THE PROVINCES.
In Cordoba, although the physical revolution has been put a stop to, there are still people who are using underhand efforts to influence the elections. Augusto Lopez, José Cortes, C. Peña, and the Clingo Bedoy, are at the head of the malcontents.

At Tucuman, the Frailé Aldas will soon be captured. It is this individual who has arrived and taken to the field the College students. Several officers and chiefs have been promoted. In Salta the election has been approved, and Don Francisco Ortiz has been elected as the representative of the province. The province is quiet. General Rojo had arrived at Salta.

THE PROVINCES.
In Tucuman, the Municipality had granted land for the erection of a theatre, and had been the subject of the public tents for the preliminary exercises of the edifice. From the 20th to the 23rd ult., and from 25th to 27th ult., there had been a storm of rain, accompanied by heavy rains, which, it is feared, will seriously affect the public health and the crops.
