The American Minister's Speech

Our report of yesterday being hurried, and having come inaccurately, we report it in full as follows:

As the sun is to day, diffusing light and warmth to make all nature glad, so is the presence of woman necessary to reflect light upon a man's path, and stimulate him to honorable ambition. It will not be expected of me, on this occasion, to make a long speech, for I can plainly see the most... short speeches and long drags.

This is a glorious day for the Argentine Republic; science is yet in its infancy, and even now this country is beginning to feel the warm impulses of its great heat. When Guttenberg and Faust first invented the art of printing thoughts upon paper (the greatest invention of the world), they thought not the time would come when the newspaper would be printed by the agency of steam, at the rate of fifteen thousand an hour.

When the Marquis of Worcester sat in his lonely cell in the tower, watching the tea-kettle, and then conceiving the idea of the steam engine, he thought not the revolution he might bring not was destined to make in the world. It remained for the inventive genius of Watt, Stephenson and Fulton, to make the steam engine a reality. Now this mighty agency dives down into the earth, and throws up its hidden wealth, and then, with its hot breath, melts the iron and hammers it out into noisy railroad cars, or draws it out into a tissue as fine as the gridle which surrounds the ladies' delicate waists. Yes, lady, when the flower in the ribbon with which your bonnet is trimmed, has been wrought by its agency. The delicate fabric of the dress you wear is woven by this power. Dr. Lardner has said that two ounces of coal will evaporate one pint of water, and thereby generate 210 gallons of steam, which will do mechanical force sufficient to raise 37 tons one foot high. He also says a pound of coke, burned in a locomotive engine, will evaporate five pints of water, and this quantity of steam will do mechanical force sufficient to raise one ton one foot high. He also says a pound of coke, burned in a locomotive engine, will evaporate five pints of water, and this quantity of steam will do mechanical force sufficient to raise one ton one foot high.

The citizen of S. Francisco can no hold a communication with his friends in New York city, and only consume a few hours. And before many months will have elapsed, it will be possible to be hurrying under the arched way of the Atlantic, with the velocity of light, to our cousins in England. And now let me make a prediction, and the beauty of my prophecy is, none of you will live to see it contradicted, and call me a false prophet. It is, that in my opinion the time will come, when the power of electricity, and the power of steam, shall be so combined, that you will see a world of mystery within itself will supply steam, and be used to propel the steamer, and the locomotive. This, Dr. Costa, is a grand achievement, so far as South America, where good is so scarce. But I must not weary you with a list of the triumphs of the age; I feel happy to find so many brethren of all climes, and of all ages, as for the ladies, I say, "God bless them."

LOCAL EVENTS.

Wanted a Professor of Geography.—Some good folk in this world, in the 19th century, hold to it as an axiom, that it is impossible to complete a gentleman's education, without his making the grand tour. In some parts of the world, it is not only a young man's travelling on the Continent of Europe, and in the majority of cases the pupils returned home as if they were states of ignorance, as when they left their paternal hearth, it is true that they did not know their juvenile friends with astonishing remark about the enemies of the Paris, though the Latin of the Quarter. The staining of that same city, and the minute accounts of the infallible marriage invented by Madame de Genieve, to break the Bank at Montpelier, but for any useful information they might have received, they might as well have sat in the heated atmosphere of the small House of Westminster, and listen to the heaven-born legislators talking of marching troops to Barbadoes, or as was done at the last, to the House of Commons in the House of Commons.

The French English Debt.—Buenos Aires has been a long time a very busy place. The French English Debt is now being transferred from the hands of the Government to those of the bank of Buenos Aires. The transfer is now being completed, and the bank of Buenos Aires is now the holder of the debt. This is a very important step, and will greatly benefit the bank.

Establishment of a fleet of investigators starts in Moscow

Apply to H. V. T.—Reports.—On the 1st inst. four vessels cleared out for foreign ports with 9000 bales wool, 121 sheepskins, 43000 and 101 bales flannel, 25 cases, 4200 qd jerked beef, and 10 horses.

Liberty of Opinion.—The interim Juez de Paz, Barceas al Sud, D. Gubino Rechun, has been wielding with authority with that force peculiar to men suddenly raised to small power. A young man, named Pedro Rosa, has been placed by him in the stocks for the awful crime of canvassing for the opposite party. We sincerely hope that the mischievous young man Rosa will meet with his just deserts for it, if these things are allowed to go on, wherein to the honor and profit of being elected Juez. A fellow might just as well be a common citizen, as a Juez, if he is not allowed to have the credit of seeing further into a misdeed than he who picked the hole.

Chicoano.—The inhabitants of this long and surrounding country, feel much regret at the departure of Dr. Finck from amongst them. During a period of seven years he has endeared himself to the community, as well as to the foreigner. Every reader, at the sight of the suffering, and possessing a refinement and industry of manner, and high skill in his profession, he was the approbation and esteem of the people. Being about to leave for home, a few of his more intimate friends resolved to entertain him at dinner, to testify their sense and appreciation of his valuable services. A few days afterwards, however, he was visited with domestic afflictions, in the death of his youngest child, and his last hours being spent in the pleasure of meeting in a festive manner for the melancholy duty of sympathy with him in his bereavement. We understand that Dr. Finck, with his family, leaves by the steamer, and it is needless to assure that he carries with him the warm wishes of all for his future welfare.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MASA & C^o

Buenos Ayres.
The immense amount of Accounts Current are now so generally left, and neglected in the great enterprises on the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Masá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have, hitherto, been enjoyed in that city by an immense number of Chileans, artisans, workmen and servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the momentary gambling, in lottery and other frivolities.

The Bank of Masá and Co. of this city following the example of their Buenos Ayres September 19th 1893.
