All falsi nunciam... SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1864.

BUENOS AYRES AND MONTEVIDEO.

Among the many strange communications which we receive from Europe, the last packet brought as a request from a gentleman well known in the commercial world of London, to supply him with dates and statistics regarding the twin cities of La Plata, and their commercial relations.

Buenos Ayres and Montevideo, the respective capitals of the Argentine and Uruguay (or Oriental) republics are situated on opposite sides of the River Plate, and distant 120 miles.

The former contains about 150,000, the latter (by census 1850) has 44,519 inhabitants. By means of the English and French mails these cities are placed in fortnightly communication with Brazil and Europe.

In 1862 there were 216 steamers entered Buenos Ayres from the sister city and the same number vice-versa, giving an average of 4 per week each way.

These figures suffice to show the great commerce of the two ports and their close relations. It is to be regretted that the Montevideo customs report of 1862 give no shipping returns: hence we have quoted the statistical list of 1860.

The collector, and Commissary of calle Artes are vainly hunting after the robber who carried off the bag of ounces at 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The man found dead in the house of ill-fame, calle Artes, has been buried. The Italian huddled by the soldier last Sunday evening on the Mole, has not died.

THE REIGN OF TERROR.

On Wednesday at 3 p.m. a soldier entered a house in the calle Corrito with the purpose of robbing. After stabbing the owner of the house, he rushed out and killed a man standing at the corner of the street, afterwards wounding several people with his bayonet as he went along.

On Tuesday night when the serenades were bringing to prison the man who had broken into Sto Domingo church, they were alarmed by a pistol shot fired near the corner of plaza Victoria and calle Defensa.

On Sunday night at eleven o'clock a man was attacked on the calle Larga, Barracas: there was a bright moonlight, and the poor fellow saw himself at once surrounded by a gang of professional cut-throats, thirsting like tigers for his blood.

We hear of no recent arrest among the Flores banditti. The three soldiers who attacked the German in his phalanx near Granwell's quinta have not been arrested.

The collector, and Commissary of calle Artes are vainly hunting after the robber who carried off the bag of ounces at 5 p.m. on Saturday.

RIOT AT THE CHAMBERS.

The Clubs mustered yesterday, with great retinues of 'riff-raff,' in front of the Chambers. At 3 p.m., the crowd amounted to over 4,000.

At four o'clock some shots were fired among the mob. One man was shot in the arm, Monsieur Bonemason was struck in the back with a spent ball, and D. Adolfo Alsina was reported killed: we believe, however, he is only wounded.

It is a proof of the immorality of our politicians that they assembled such a number of 'riff-raff' near the Chambers, to support their peculiar dogmas. Many of these fellows were drunk, all were armed, and it was dangerous for a quiet citizen to pass that thoroughfare.

CORDOBA

Treaty with the Rebels.

Dates from this city have arrived up to the 14th inst. The 'Ere' publishes the following treaty, entered into between the Government and the rebels. At Lanyaba, on the 10th April, 1864, the Government forces in this province to wit, the Presbyter, Don Jose Gregorio Ardiles and Don Nicasio Funes, on one part, and Sr. Pedro Echegaray representing the chiefs, officers, and troops, on the other part, have met to arrange matters, so that hostilities may cease, and have agreed to the following terms:—

1st. The Special Commissioners of Lieutenant-Colonel Salvador Pizarro, agree to grant to Sr. Echegaray, chiefs, officers, and troops, free pardon, and a guarantee for their persons and interests.

2nd. To obtain from Government, within fifteen days from this date, a confirmation of this pardon.

3rd. To exonerate the rebels from all responsibility as to the charges incurred by Government in trying to quell the revolt.

4th. That during the time mentioned they will not foment or take part in any revolutionary movement against the present Government.

5th. To be answerable (in case of the preceding article being trospassed upon) for all the expenses that may be caused the Government.

In witness of our good faith, we sign this treaty in Lanyaba, on the 10th April, 1864.

For the Government, Sr. D. Juan de Urquiza, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Rosas, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Alvear, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Lavandeyra, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Castelli, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Arce, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Huidobro, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Guzman, Sr. D. Juan Manuel de Paz.

The 'Nacion Argentina' says:—In spite of this apparent tranquillity, we have correspondence from Cordoba, giving detailed news of the bad state in which society is in that city, and the fears that Government has converted that city into a military camp.

Rebels in the Banda Oriental.

S. Gomez has addressed a document to the Government from Paysandú, stating that Lieutenant Sierra had captured, on one of the Islands, Juan de la Cruz Ledesma, his son Ledesma, who had murdered a young man called Pablo Muñoz in Fray Bentos, and two

DESAHOGOS DEL CORAZON

We have received the first number of a small pamphlet of rhymes by Señorita Rosa Guerra.

This first piece is an address of congratulation to Dr. Don Vicente Lopez, on the anniversary of his birthday. The sentiment conveyed in the lines is, that Don Vicente Lopez is his father's hope, his mother's joy, and that the country is proud of him.

The 'Desahogos del Corazon' are written by Señorita R. Guerra, so we do not know who wrote the answer, as there is no name to it, except it be that Señorita Guerra wrote the answer to herself, and got Mr. Vicente Lopez to sign it.

LAW IN THE CAMP A DERISION.

A native estanciero happening to see some cowhides of his mark at a pulperia asked the comerciante (such is the title these grog vendors assume) how he came by these hides.

The pulperia was searched, the stolen hides found, the person who stole and sold them taken prisoner, and finding his accomplice, the pulpero comerciante, bearing witness against him, he not only acknowledged, but gloried, in the deed.

Now, Mr. Acosta, I would humbly ask, what punishment does such a man deserve? he has no known occupation, he is publicly spoken of as a person who lives on what he steals, consequently he comes under the classification of 'egg,' for which class the law provides occupation; and now a case of robbery is proven against him!

The entire disregard of law, by some of the local authorities, is becoming so flagrant, that few have any faith in camp justice. The estanciero in question, a native and a Crudo, hands a robber over to justice, and thereby does himself a double injury; he creates a personal enemy, and places his life at the mercy of a class of men who would as willingly kill the estanciero as the robber's cattle, and the sum-total to a camp court-house has the only effect of causing them to take revenge, by repeating their acts with double energy.

The 'Nacion Argentina' says:—In spite of this apparent tranquillity, we have correspondence from Cordoba, giving detailed news of the bad state in which society is in that city, and the fears that Government has converted that city into a military camp.

6 p.m.—It is known the Chamber has ratified the elections, by 22 to 5 votes. Rioting is expected to-night.

7 p.m.—Some thirty prisoners have been arrested and taken to the Policia.

MURDER.

A Crudo and a Cocido had a row on Thursday night. One killed the other, and was arrested. It happened at the corner of Artes and Temple.

LOCAL EVENTS.

Maus Bank.—In Mercedes (B. O) the Maus Bank commenced operations last week.—Eco

The Oriental Rebellion.—Jose M. Silva, Gefe Politico de Florida, writes under date of 13th inst.:

'Taking advantage of the pardon offered by Government, several persons have presented themselves, and their example will likely be followed by numbers who are at present wandering about in the bush. I am happy to be able to confirm the report that Don Doroteo Enciso Arroyo, and many others have deserted from Flores, and gone to the Brazilian territory.—Jose M. Silva.—'Reforma Pacifica.'

Loan.—It is reported that the pending financial operations have been arranged. To day or to-morrow we expect that the official Gazette will announce the conclusion. Already we know that one fifth of the obligations has been taken by the Banco Comercial, and the rest by capitalists.—'Reforma Pacifica,' 20th April.

Wholesale Desertion.—The 'Nacional' says that letters have been received from the village of Arceices, in which it is stated that the greater part of the troops of the 9th Regiment, besides the contingents lately sent there, are all deserting. The Colonel Ganabin, chief of the troops, has written to the Jueces de Paz and comandantes of squadrons to seize and send back all the deserters on whom they can lay their hands. The Juez de Paz of Arceices, before taking any steps in the matter, has applied to the Provincial Government stating that these deserters were not on military service, but were working for the private interests of the chiefs and their associates on the frontier. The 'Nacional' asks what will the Provincial Government do? It seems to think that the Government is between the devil and the deep sea. For, if on making enquiries, this report be found true, the deserters cannot be punished, and that a bad example is thus set before the other National Guard regiments who may go and do likewise. Verily it is a most disagreeable position to be in.

Assassination.—It never rains but it pours. The unfortunate 'Pueblo' has had another brickbat shied at its head in the shape of a charge for libelling some thin-skinned party in San Nicolas de los Arroyos—till now we were always under the impression that the chief live produce of that place was alligators, crocodiles, and eels. Were the 'Pueblo' to follow our advice...

ON CHANGE. April 22, 1864. It being known this morning that the rival factions had come to no settlement...

Then for a reason and for a season, We will be jolly before we go. Then more punch, more punch, hurra!

Then more punch, more punch, hurra! We trust that Latino got home safe; for ourselves, we confess that some ruffians had stolen the key-hole.

Scientific Diplomas.—The Geographical Society in Berlin has appointed as honorary members, Sr. Trellies in Buenos Ayres, and Sr. Castellanos and General Reyes, Montevideo.

Found, Found.—At last we have discovered the object of public newspapers, and we owe our sincere thanks to the 'Nacion Argentina.'
