FRENCH PACKET REVIEW.

The present state of the Argentine Republic, with the exception of the Province of Buenos Ayres, peaceable and prosperous.

It is the general opinion that the whole mechanism of Government has yet to be thoroughly reformed.

The native newspapers, without a single honorable exception keep up the spirit of dissension.

We would rejoice, indeed, were it in our power to expulate the Governor of this province, Don Mariano Savera.

The richest, wealthiest, and most influential men in this city, who hold the position of Senators in the Provincial Chambers.

It is our pleasing duty to observe that the new National Finance Minister, Sr. Gonzalez, has resumed the burning of the paper money.

Several very important measures are about to be introduced at the approaching Congress.

The saladeros in the rivers are at present killing fast: cattle are cheap, and hides and jerked beef maintain their prices.

Next English pack we expect will take home some sales of Paraguayan cotton.

The Bank of Maaz, which is decidedly the most influential private bank in the River Plate.

The Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway is progressing wonderfully.

The Argentine Central Railway, which enjoys such sympathy and support amongst us.

The London and River Plate Bank has recently, in company with some merchants in this city.

Several cargoes of preserved beef have been shipped to England by a leading Montevideo house.

Notwithstanding the alarm which politicians have created in this city, the general feeling is favourable to the Government.

The steamer Corrientes which was to have left for Montevideo.

The decree of the President for the opening of Congress has been at last published.

A new English monthly magazine is about to be started.

The celebrated Dredge has at last arrived: the account of the captain who brought it down.

completely drunk. Thanks to good luck more than anything else, the dredge at last twisted into San Fernando.

One of the strangest facts is that in the recent report published respecting the native hospital.

We are assured by one of the oldest and most influential English merchants in town.

The attendance tonight at Colon theatre will be very great.

The Steaming went into the outer roads last evening.

INFANOUS ADVERTISEMENTS. We copy the following scandalous notice from El Plata of Montevideo:

AVISO. "The—Conan, Mr. N. N. is requested to return or pay for a handkerchief taken by his little daughter from the drapery establishment, No. 158 calle Buenos Ayres."

We have suppressed the name of the gentleman who has been so villainously libelled, and hope the laws of this country will be speedily reformed.

Mr. X is requested, for the sixth time to pay the little bill he owes the undersigned, P. P.

SEÑORA M. Is begged to return the bracelet she inadvertently picked up at the ball, last night, which belongs to me.

MATRIMONIAL. I hereby certify that I said not in derogatory of Don N's wife, or if I did it must have been in a moment of excitement.

For the honor of Buenos Ayres, no less than for a sense of decency we have to beg our colleagues will exclude such foul rubbish from their columns.

THE ARGENTINE CENTRAL RAILWAY. Buenos Ayres, May 11, 1864.

To the Editors of the Standard. 'Perturbant mores.' And after four days of difficult and dangerous labour.

First, that the support offered by Mr. Robertson to the Cordoba line was made contingent on the cession (or sale, if Sr. Santamaria prefers it) of the Boca Railway to the Southern Company.

Secondly, that on Mr. Wheelwright declining to entertain any such proposals, Mr. Robertson suddenly remembered that the comparative security of the National and Provincial guarantees.

part did not admit of an immediate contradiction, there would be no chance of obtaining the necessary capital.

The difference therefore between the two contracts, the Central and the Southern, remains as stated.

We accept those terms that are the most advantageous to the contractors.

As to the right of Mr. Wheelwright to have the land, in order to dispose of one-half of the lands.

Between the high character and position of the directors of either railway, 'Veritas' made no unfavourable comparisons.

The Directors of these Corporations are men of the highest position and character.

tive for a burlesque in the following heading to the Royal Mail notice:

"To protect the best from the best of the sea." Such is the absurd caricature taking the place of the Royal Mail notice.

THE BRILLIANT STAIR. Narrow Escape of a distinguished Banker.

We regret to inform our readers that a few days since one of leading bankers as he was emerging from his town house in his carriage met with a rather serious accident.

There was a lady along with him also, and a distinguished Dublin M.D. sitting behind. The horses it appears took fright at something, and ran pell mell into a hole which was in the street.

INDIANS. Further despatches with reference to the inland of the Indians on the Northern frontiers have been received by Government.

As expected, the troops which I detailed from Fort Alvarez (as mentioned in my list) have met with success. At daybreak yesterday they came upon some Indian signs, and upon following up the trail closely they succeeded in coming up to the Indians and taking away from them 21 brown cattle, which are now at the disposal of the Provincial Government.

PROSPECTUS. Within a few months, or as soon as arrangements can be made for its publication, will be issued the first number of "THE ARGENTINE CITIZEN."
