The Argentine Republic has no foreign debt, consequently the financial barometer is wonting by such to judge of the merits of the Government guaranteeing the undertaking.

The supposition that Mr. Robertson, however well known and powerful he may be, could not handily damage any undertaking brought out under the auspices of such well known men as Messrs. Brassey and Wagon, is, in fact, ridiculous, at least not complimentary to the latter gentleman.

The real cause of failure must be looked for elsewhere, and can be more justly attributed to the reason before given than to any other.

Meanwhile, some one must be blamed, and it is easy to find fault with and accuse an absent person, than establish the credit of a young country.

I remain, Sir,
Yours truly,
DEIRA.

"The republic bearing the above name includes a vast area of the best portion of the South American continent, and extends over nearly a million of square miles. Its limits are defined by the Republic of Bolivia on the N. the Andes on the west, Paraguay, Brazil, and Uruguay on the east, the Atlantic on the south east, and Patagonia on the south. The country is formed almost entirely of two immense plains, covered for a portion of the year, with rich verdure. On these plains herds of oxen and sheep are supported, while other parts of the country produce excellent crops of cotton, rice, sugar cane, indigo, tobacco, maize, wheat, cochineal, maduro, cinnamon bark, and Paraguay tea. At present the agriculture of the country is in a very backward state; and if only a fraction of that energy and enterprise which have been so liberally applied to the North American continent were devoted to this magnificent region, the country would prove one of the richest, if not the richest, of the new world. The Rio de la Plata, flows through the country, carrying with it the vast volumes of water brought down by the Paraguay and the Uruguay. The La Plata, for width and magnificence stands at the head of all the rivers of the world. It is 140 miles wide at its mouth; and even at Buenos Ayres, which is 20 miles from its mouth, the river is 30 miles broad. The country produces salt, coal, alum, sulphur, and mineral pills, and the principal articles of export are hides, horse hair, wool, horns, tallow, beef, turs, and a by no means inconsiderable supply of bullion. The Spaniards were the discoverers of the country in the sixteenth century; in 1810 this like other Spanish possessions in the States, became independent of Spain, and in 1853 the successful soldier, Dr. Rosas, was elected Dictator of Buenos Ayres. He was subsequently defeated by Urquiza, in common with many of the newly-formed republics of South America, the Argentine Confederation has had its political troubles, and its share of intercommunal strife and hostilities. The Government is now, however, settled upon a firm basis, and has for some time past been energetically devoting itself to the development of the resources of this magnificent country. Buenos Aires is the capital, and at the same time, the principal outlet for the produce of the country, as well as for a large amount of the products of adjoining countries—namely, wheat, the vicuña wool from Chili, copper from Chili and silver from the mines of Potosi. Between Lima and Buenos Ayres there is an extensive commerce carried on in cattle and mules. The British flag once waved over Buenos Ayres; the city was captured by her forces in 1856, but was retained by the inhabitants in six weeks after we had possession. The attempt to recapture the city resulted in one of those very few defeats which the British troops have experienced. The city next in importance to Buenos Aires is Cordova, the capital of one of the provinces which make up the Confederation. It has manufactures of cotton, leather and wool; the population being about 100,000.

"It is with a view to the development of this fine territory that the Government have given valuable assistance to the project for the construction of a railway, 247 miles in length, to connect Cordova and Rosario; the latter being situated on the Paraná, and being accessible at all states of the tide for vessels of 100 tons burden, the navigation of the Paraná northwards being unimpeded for nearly 2000 miles. The concessions and privileges granted by the Government are most valuable, including the grant of the railway in full freedom from taxation and all impost for forty years, a guarantee of seven per cent on the capital required, to take effect from the opening of each section five years to be the limit within which the line is to be completed; and a grant of 500,000 acres. The contract for the completion of the line, at a cost of £4400 per mile, has been entered into with Messrs. Brassey, Wyllyes and Wheelwright."

FIRST PART OF THE DEPT. OF GUALEGUAYCHU, MAY 9, 1864.

Mr. Editor,

On last Thursday the new steamer Enra, arrived in this port from Buenos Ayres—and as the columns of your popular paper are always foremost in holding and advocating any movement towards civilization and the commercial progress of this country, I hope to find space therein for a few lines for the well merited praise of the commercial community of Gualeguaychu on having realized their brilliant object in having a steam navigation direct from Gualeguaychu to Buenos Ayres. On Wednesday, 8th inst., the steamer Enra made a pleasant trip from Gualeguaychu to Fray Bentos, taking on board about 30 persons, of whom were 25 men, 2 women, and 3 children, at the saladero near the town of Fray Bentos, and on the summit of one of those beautiful and picturesque green hills enjoyed a fine champagne prepared by the excelsiories of the steamer. After the usual speeches and mirth which is customary on such occasions, the lively sound of the steam-whistle caused us to leave the gay scene, and return on board, and again steamed for Gualeguaychu, to end the ceremony in a grand ball given in the Club Heceroo of Buenos Ayres. It is most splendidly fitted up for both cabin and storage passengers, and we wish to all success.

Yours, &c.

THE TRANSDRINE RAILWAY

The following letter appears in the Nacion with reference to this great undertaking:—

Santiago, 14th April, 1864.

This gigantic scheme will soon be carried to a happy finish. Mr. Meggie, the contractor, will this very day, in his proposals to the Chilean and Argentine Governments.

I send you, by the post, a sketch which will give you a good idea of what Mr. Meggie proposes doing. I should like very much to read the articles which you have written on the subject of the future of our country. There are no longer any Aniles.

Yours, &c.

JUAN LAVALLE.

(Mr. Lavalle is the least bit too sanguine in his remarks on the subject, as his countrymen call him) and a few more such like characters, to get any thing else than promises out of the Argentine Government, and then they'll require a good deal of money to get almost as early as he did when he left California.

LOCAL EVENTS.

The President's Speech.—The native newspapers, in speaking on Wednesday night of the President's speech seemed to think that something may be said in regard to the future policy of the Government. If their expectations be realized, the President's speech must be something quite out of the run of things, as it would be for a general emperor, and presidents generally except to the saying that 'speech was given to man to hide his thoughts.'

Railway Sale.—The Northern Railway Company has opened a magnificent sale, for the purpose of raising money for the Central Station.—National.

Patrimony.—This place, so long a time the retreat of Robas, is seemingly to be turned to another use. One of the opening papers says that Dr. Larroque has applied to the Municipality for leave to establish a school there, but it is not known what answer that illustrious body has given to the request. It is just as likely that the Municipality will refuse, or grant the request, but so hampered with conditions as to be equivalent to a refusal, preferring to see the houses on Palomar for the use of the rats and such ludians as favor this heroic city with their presence. Should Dr. Larroque not get Palermo, he may be obliged to seek a new site, or to be satisfied with the use of his guests; it is admirably adapted for a prison, and the convicts will not have the slightest difficulty in occupying at least not much more so than in the present goal in the Plaza.

Students.—Students of human nature have frequently noticed that certain crimes become epidemic in a certain season. Paris is frequently visited with a suicide mania, and charcoal and Magnesia colored ribbons are in demand. Kleptomania becomes frightfully prevalent in London without any seeming cause. And now in the River Plata provinces, the mania of forgetting one's own name and occupation prevails. Mr. Dezaola, whose name is Palomar, and who is a native of Montevideo, and scarcely is he squashed (if squashed he be) in this heroic city, some individuals who are very anxious to get rid of their whistles, lanterns and spears, they enter houses in pursuit of robbers and thieves, the products of their own brains. There is one advantage to be gained, if there follows any act of aggression, and in the perpetual absence of the appointed guardians of the peace, may lighten away thence, by accident.

ON CHANGE.—May 12, 1864.

Paper price of ounces, 40 1/2.

The Bolsa was almost deserted to day, all the brokers having gone to attend the inauguration of Congress. The merchants and bankers were at their usual place, near the speculation rail, but there was no animation in the hall, the absence of the lively, jocular patron brokers, threw a gloom over all.

Patacons were very firm today, opening at 28.95. They ran up to 29, and closed firm at 28.95. Total cash sales, 17,816.

The opening of Congress was almost the sole topic on 'Change, and the greatest anxiety was entertained to know the President's speech. Our readers will find it in full in another column. The President adverted very severely to the scandalous opposition which had been made in London to Mr. Wheelwright, but congratulated the country that this persecuted man had at length triumphed. It appears that the National Government will subscribe for the stock 200,000 patacons. We hope Mr. Wheelwright's friends will send this good news home to that gentleman by the supplemental mail.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAHA & CO.

No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —
BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maha & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have no hitherto enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

The Bank of Maha and Co. of this city following the example of their Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.
