FACTIOUS OPPOSITION.

Factious opposition in the Argentine Republic can only be defined as a sort of dog in the manger policy, the sole object of which is to negative every sound progressive measure introduced for the good of the country.

We can understand the Ordo and Cocio dispute, and respect even if necessary both parties.

We can comprehend the struggles of the old party in this country against the new, that is to say, the Federal against the Unitario, because what is bred in the bone must come out in the flesh.

The credit of the Argentine Republic must be dear to the Federal as to the Unitario, since members of both parties are alike holders of the public bonds.

The prosperity and advancement of the country must be in the end the latest wish of both parties, since all partakers in the benefits. How, then, is it, we ask, that in the last Congress a factious opposition raised its head and succeeded in defeating the best measure which was introduced in the session.

Since the closing of the last session of Congress, we all have had occasion to know the fallacious motives which induced the house to throw out the clause in the National Credit bill, authorizing the introduction of the national bonds on the London Market.

We all know that the real cause of Mr. Wheelwright's difficulties in London was the rejection of Article 1 in the last Congress. The Argentine Republic owed nothing in Europe, she was not known to our capitalists at home, and as a natural consequence, no one cared to trust her.

We suppose that at this Congress the measure will be again brought before the house, and we trust to the good sense of the members of the house to discountenance the factious opposition which was painfully triumphant last session.

The Members of Congress who oppose this measure can advance no just reason for their conduct. They practice the most dishonorable unfairness towards the patient foreign creditors of this nation and lend themselves to an attempt to ruin the Republic.

It would require little logic on our part to prove that, no matter what use is made of the money, it is the interest of the country and of the government to make a small loan in Europe and to pay regularly the interest thereon. By doing the Argentine Republic benefits are introduced upon the money markets of Europe, and upon our legislators with the country to remain as it is, and to shut out from the River Plate the inestimable advantages of foreign capital, there can be no earthly motive for expending the pecuniary interest and amortization in English or on our public debt to English creditors. We will not now enter into the speculation regarding which we offered last session in Congress, and which in Europe would only pass current in a society of big game sportsmen. We suppose that Congress has met now for the purpose of advancing the interests of the country. We suppose that the members are upright and honest men, intent only upon promoting Argentine prosperity. We hope we shall not be mistaken, and that the members themselves will perceive the necessity of annihilating all factious opposition to so useful, so meritorious a measure.

PROPERTY IN THE CAMP.

The whole camp system must speedily be reformed, else property will cease to have its rights, and investment in the cattle business become of even a more dangerous character than even a speculation in currencies. A man who is arriving in this country with say £500, and who immediately invests the same in double lands, has, we insist, a better chance of making a few thousand paper dollars in the year, than the sober, industrious laborer, who puts his little all into half a flock of sheep, and goes out in the camp to mind them. The once speculator always has his doubts, which supposing for a moment that they even do not even rise in value, give him an interest of from 1 to 1 1/2 per cent a month; besides, he has his time at his disposal, and can always, if he is willing to work, earn sufficient to support himself. Now, on the other hand, the man who puts his £500 into half a flock of sheep, not only runs the risk of losing his capital through drought, severity of grass, disease, &c., but hazards his very life in living in an isolated puesto; the lambing season comes round, and this is the real harvest of the shepherd (for the wool of half a flock of sheep is barely able to maintain him with the simplest necessities of life); and how frequently, owing to the inclemency of the winter, does not the farmer lose 50 and even 60 per cent. of his lambs.

But these are drawbacks or contingencies which cannot be well avoided, no matter how good the good the government. We refer now to the social evils which are growing up in the camp, and which, under a judicious administration, would be at once remedied. A mixture of sheep, now invariably leads to fights and disputes, simply because there has ceased to exist any authority in the country districts. Sheep are stolen night after night, passed from one puntal to another, and at times actually driven out of the province. Some few months ago, a flock of two thousand fine merino sheep were stolen in Santa Fe by the authorities, owing to the fact that there were more than one hundred different marks, and the owner had not a permit for even one. Last year, a flock of 1000 merino sheep were stolen, 300 legs out, and driven in to the partido of the Fortin. Sheep were stolen and restored to the owner six or seven days after they were lost, and at times similar robberies, but as a general rule the shepherd who once goes away is lost for ever. Now we insist that the cause of all this is the want of a law which is the scandalous inefficiency of the country alcaldes, who not infrequently are 'campadores' with the very worst character in the camp.

We leave it to our readers who have any experience in camp matters to say whether we exaggerate the sad state of the country, or whether we are not justified in saying that the present state of affairs in the camp is even more hazardous than to speculate in ounces.

We cannot, in justice to our fellow countrymen who are daily arriving in Buenos Aires, owing to our exertions, advise them to put their money in a business which is attended with such risks. Property in the camp now-a-days, particularly in horses, may be regarded as more imaginary than anything else. A man leaves his estates for Buenos Aires on business, when he returns in a few days he finds his horses all stolen, his sheep mixed, and his flock short the number. Our attention has been called to this matter by a letter which we received from the camp yesterday morning, which we publish in the hope that it will instigate all foreigners to give publicity in the 'Standard' to these wholesale robberies, which are now we regret to say, becoming too frequent. Will any of our readers please tell Governor Saavedra of the matter.

By Messrs. M. G. and E. T. Mullall, 'Gentlemen.'

You will oblige me by inserting the annexed advertisement in the 'Standard,' which I know circulates for and wide both North and South amongst all classes who understand the English language. The last took place while I was absent from home on business, unfortunately accompanied by two persons (in charge of the horses for the journey), whose services might have been valuable in the search when the loss was discovered. The caps as they tell me that he had all the boxes of the blankets brought and, and missed these advertised for on up to the 'good' on the evening of the shutting in next morning. Since then I have employed 'poomas campadores' in all directions, but with no result, and therefore resort to the medium of an advertisement.

Company, and Western Railway have not been so fortunate.

The result of the camp election is not yet fully known. Mr. Justino Agrelo was elected Senator for Bol. gran and San Fernando. D. Vicente Belmonte had a minority at Quiñones on Sunday to celebrate the Cuzco-Cordoba conciliation. The guests were all soldiers, generals, Gelly Obes, Pampas, Colonels Orma, Charlone, &c.

Great Central Argentine Railway, between Rosario and Cordoba.

We extract the following from the 'Brazil and River Plate Mail': The vast valley of Buenos Ayres, or La Plata, situated between the Brazil and the Andes, embraces a breadth of several hundred leagues, and penetrates westward to Upper Peru or Bolivia, while its numerous streams water the plains, or become vehicles of commerce, developing the riches of the province through which it will pass, and a concession has been granted to Mr. Wheelwright of a most liberal character. The road commences 270 miles above Buenos Ayres, at the flourishing town of Rosario, on the right bank of the La Plata, a navigable river for ships of large burthen. The road pursues its way over a plain for 200 miles, until it reaches the city of Cordoba, the most central and commercial city of the Pampas. Mines of gold, silver, and copper are said to abound in this region.

WOOL MARKET.

(From Messrs. W. Greene and Co.'s Monthly Wool Circular.)

We have had a very active demand for all descriptions of wool during the past month, and considerable transactions have taken place at generally enhanced rates: the very limited stocks of horewar are at present available is a great check to more extended business. East India continues in good request, stocks in second hands have now reduced to a very small compass, the quantity already secured for next season is only about 3000 bales, and as the amount is also very moderate, we may reasonably expect a higher range of prices at rather a higher rate. Peruvian sheep's wool has been in a very good request, and some considerable sales have been made, chiefly for home trade, at very full prices. About 1000 bales, chiefly unsorted fine Lima wool, have been offered at auction today, and realised as follows:—Good white, 1s to 1s 2/4; extra white 1s 3/4 to 1s 4/4; good black 11s to 1s 1/4; extra black 1s 1/4 to 1s 1/2; mixed 11s to 1s 1/4, as the amount of competition. Alpacas—The improved feeling noticed in our last monthly report, as regards this article has been fully supported, and several large sales have been made, comprising the great bulk of present stocks here and about, at 2s 2/4 to 2s 4d for inferior, and 2s 6d to 2s 7d for fair to average grades, with every prospect of higher prices. Turkey, Smyrna, Egyptian, &c.—There is scarcely any supply, but anything of fair coming quality sells readily at rather higher rates. A 50 mohair some large sales at 2s 9d, as in quality and condition. Doukoi—Ageing has been in good request, and some considerable sales have been made, both on the spot and to arrive, at very full prices. Operto and Castellano wool stocks, which is also the case with Merino and Sax wool, which would sell readily at higher rates, as the River Plate wools have at length participated in the general improvement, and some considerable sales have been made at improved rates. English and Irish have been in a very good request throughout the past month, with a further improved tendency in prices generally.

AMERICAN MARKETS.

New York, March 22nd, 1864.

A moderate amount of business has been done in the past month at prices previously ruling, with a few articles which, if the tariff is changed, may have increased duties placed on them, and such an advance in price has been obtained. The continued fluctuations in gold proved large transactions, as there is a conservative feeling among business men not to hold too much merchandise, which must inevitably fall in price if there is any serious decline in the price of gold. Our importations continue large, and the balance of trade being against us, exports large amounts of specie to be exported. The demand of specie by importers has been greater than the supply, and the accumulation of gold in the Sub-Treasury has contributed to this scarcity. Congress has recently passed a law permitting the Secretary of the Treasury to anticipate payments of interest on loans, and after reserving one per cent for a sinking fund, to use the surplus gold so as to prevent speculation if possible. In fulfillment of a law recently passed by Congress, creating a Lieutenant General, a President has appointed General Grant to the office, who is now General-in-Chief of the Army of the United States. His headquarters will be at the Army of the Potomac, and with the changes that may soon be made in the different Armies, there will be a forward movement, instead of the inactivity which has prevailed for so long a time.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAU & C.
 No. 103 calle de Cangallo.

BUENOS-AIRES.
 The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo and Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.
 The Bank of Mau & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depository for their savings.
 The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.
 These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.
 The Bank of Mau & Co. of this city following the example of their Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.
 p. p. Mau & Co.
