"M. falsi autem nil veri non audeam dicere." — Cicero.

FRIDAY, MAY 20, 1864.

THE PARAGUAY LETTER.

Sr. Berge's letter to Minister Elizalde has taken Buenos Ayres by surprise. Our colleagues can hardly find epithets strong enough to use towards the Paraguayan Minister...

M. Berge has the advantage of our minister in this respect, that he has travelled through Europe and the U. States and in the discharge of his duty as special envoy, has mixed with the leading diplomatists of those countries.

We cannot take on us to say how far correct the charges are which the Paraguayan Minister makes respecting the want of good faith, and contradiction, manifested in M. Elizalde's notes...

There is an open simplicity in the Paraguayan Minister's note which gains for him in the estimation of all unprejudiced people. He states his case plainly and without any awful superfluity of words...

In fine, the result of the notes of the Paraguayan Government, asking explanations from that of the Argentine Republic with respect to the Oriental Government has been a dead silence of ten weeks...

Such unsatisfactory results cannot but render negotiations very difficult for this Government, which cannot do less than look with distrust upon the Argentine Government...

It is anything but pleasant for my Government to reiterate the assertion, which is the ground of this present note, that some points in my note of 6th January are capable of causing difficulties...

And if this Government ought to be grateful for that of the Argentine Republic for the consideration which it has showed to my former notes, I can not help noticing the total absence of all explanations...

Late events in the River Plate give a more salient signification to the position of the Argentine and Oriental Governments, which cannot but arrest the serious attention of this country...

Your Excellency in your note of 31st December states that all conciliatory measures having failed, Government was looking for a just reparation, and afterwards you say that the two Governments had accepted the mediation of Mr. Thornton...

The explanation, I am sorry to say, is not at all answer to the hopes of my Government, that the fortifying of Martin Garcia would in any way interfere with the independence of any of the States of the River Plate. On the contrary, it appears to this Government that the Oriental Republic is hurt by the fortifications and vessels of war assembled at Martin Garcia...

It is far from the intention of this Government to deny the Argentine Republic the right to vindicate her honor, so long as the independence of the Oriental Republic is not endangered...

My Government, in asking explanations, only desired to preserve peace and friendship amongst the River Plate nations, and deeply regrets that the Argentine Government did not think fit to comply with the request...

Things being so situated, I am under the disagreeable necessity of stating that, in the absence of these friendly explanations which were requested, my Government, in future, must take its own view of such matters...

I take this opportunity, &c. JOSE BERGES. Nacion Argentina.

THE BARRACAS MARKET.

We cannot say that we are much surprised that Republican Governments, instigated, as they usually are by a false spirit of economy, should seek to huddle together attributes and duties which require alike distinct talents...

The present person we have to deal with is Charles Tejedor, who, we believe, is a lawyer, was a minister, and it is thought, has some aspirations at being an itinerant victualler.

There is a suburb of Buenos Ayres, called Barracas: it is thickly populated, and is daily increasing in importance; a scheme for building a suitable market-place has been sent into Government. The matter, of course, was sent for consideration to a person who knew nothing whatsoever about the wants and requirements of the people of Barracas...

We quote this case merely as an instance of the utter incompetence of some of our public men, and to prove to our readers that the hane of this country is putting 'wrong men in wrong places.'

Personally speaking, we know nothing whatsoever of M. Tejedor: he may, for all we know, be as profound a lawyer as he is an unsuccessful politician, but the people in Barracas are indignant that he should be the arbiter of their rights...

We opine that it would be judicious for this celebrated market lawyer to reconsider his 'flat,' as we understand it is the intention of the free and enlightened inhabitants of Barracas, in case, through M. Tejedor's prejudice, they are deprived of a market to erect a status of decomposed bones, jerked beef, &c., to the ante-posthumous memory of so distinguished a lawyer. Candidly speaking, we cannot see why the Government should refer such a question to M. Tejedor, unless for the purpose of taxing the patience of the people of Barracas, or of throwing odium on a man who, we believe, has, after all, some claims on the public.

CONGRESS.

The Deputies are still under a cloud, but we may expect those legislative constellations to shine again to-day, the committees having announced business on hand.

The Senators have begun skirmishing, Messrs. Piñero and Alsini leading on the tirailleurs. The vote of censure on the Executive, touching the exposed state of the Cordoba frontiers, will hardly pass; but it would be well to call the War Minister before the house on the matter.

General's cooked hat for old Mr. Blas Pico; the hat is before Committee, but really there is already a plethora of Generals among our militares. There is also a bill before committee to pay full pension to the veterans of Independence; this seems just, nevertheless it will be an additional charge on our reduced exchequer.

The President's Friday evening tea-parties have not yet been resumed.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

All the tailors in town are unusually busy, and the May festivals will be extraordinarily brilliant, if it do not rain. The platforms and fireworks are being constructed in the Plaza. The Museum and Cathedral will be illuminated by gas-jets.

There will be no inauguration of the Western Railway to Villa Luxan, but the prolonged line will be open to public traffic on and after Monday, 23rd inst.

Mr. McGovern is going ahead with the Boca earth-works. He has the terraplane finished from the yellow house under Lezama's quinta to the Barraca de Pefia.

We have to return our sincere thanks to an Irish gentleman, Mr. M. Parker, one of the passengers per "Kepler," for two bags of New Orleans cotton seed, which he has generously presented us with, in acknowledgement of our efforts on behalf of cotton planting.

The 'Tribuna' has at last joined with us in asking the abolition of the lottery. We hope that the government will consider the matter. Labour is very scarce at present owing to the number of hands employed on our railways, yet there are over five hundred strong able-bodied men going about town asking a living by selling lottery tickets.

The printing for Congress has created a regular fuss amongst the printers. The following is the way the matter was settled. To Messrs. Bornheim & Bonco the printing of the orders of the day; to Messrs. Varela and Casafust, the 'Diario de Sesiones'; to the Nacional, the daily newspaper reports.

We hope the Congressmen will, now that this country is so intimately connected with England, think it advisable to pay us for translating and publishing the proceedings of Congress in English.

The news from the camp is very good. The flocks are now all lambing very fast, grass is high, water is plenty, and sheep farmers are in good spirits.

Buen Orden. We wish Mr. R. every success in his new enterprise.

We are happy to assure our readers that a sound, practical emigration company is talked of. We want something of the kind badly, and hope President Mitre will lend his influence towards organising the society.

As there are numerous young men at present in the city anxious to embrace the sheep-farming business, we advise them to see Messrs. Aguirre and Murga, who offer, for minding flocks of one thousand sheep, house, corral, and horses, rations, two hundred and fifty dollars per month, and two dollars per head increase in the flock at the end of each year.

There is at present for sale a large tract of land, extending from Dolores to the coast, some 91 leagues in extent: it is all private property. We believe that the proprietors would sell at the Government price, that is to say, 200,000 dollars per league. Our object in mentioning the matter, is to see if we can get fifty Irishmen who will club together and buy the territory. If we meet with any support in the matter, we shall open a list in our office.

The people in Chivilcoy are about to erect a statue to Garibaldi. We opine it would be far better for them to invest their spare dollars in making roads and getting out a few traction engines, to keep their maize and wheat from rotting at the chancas for the want of proper conveyance to market.

CAUTION.

We regret to say that it is our duty to advise our readers of the existence of a gang of English and German burglars in this city. The fellows who were caught in Mr. Hargreave's store last week are some of the gang who robbed Mr. Visser's safe some months ago.

MAGAZINES FOR MAY.

There was a time when Buenos Ayres boasted not a single monthly publication, but within the last year half a dozen have sprung up. We will review them seriatim.

The River Plate Magazine contains some very interesting papers. The 'Dungeons of Paraguay' is a horrible recital of the sufferings of 20 Argentine citizens under the gloomy despotism of Francia: it affords us a contrast with the present paternal and prosperous rule of President Lopez, for which we have to congratulate the inhabitants of that country.

The printing for Congress has created a regular fuss amongst the printers. The following is the way the matter was settled. To Messrs. Bornheim & Bonco the printing of the orders of the day; to Messrs. Varela and Casafust, the 'Diario de Sesiones'; to the Nacional, the daily newspaper reports.

The Revista de Buenos Ayres opens with a graphic account of the capture of the Ismeralda, Spanish frigate, by the Chilean patriots under the command of the heroic Irishman, Colonel O'Brien, who fell like Nelson, in the hour of victory.

tributes a critique on female coquetry—we should like to see her try her hand on male coquettes. Atahualpa is a novelette by M. Palma. Dr. Quesada's reminiscences of Corrientes are picturesquely drawn. Dr. Viola's notes on Tucuman deserve to be studied by all who have at heart the trade and condition of the interior.

The fortnightly publication, Medico-Quirurgica, 8th inst., contains many interesting data. We find that nearly two-thirds of the patients in the native hospitals are foreigners; and here we feel bound to express the gratitude of many of our poor countrymen who were treated with much tender care, gratuitously, in the institutions.

All Palliere's Album has been hailed with great and well-deserved applause, and we are happy to find a large proportion of his subscribers among our countrymen. His pictures are tableaux-vivants of S. American life.

To the above local publications, we may add an American one, with which we have been favoured by the agent, Mr. Briol, 196 Calle Reconquista, Goody's Lady's Book.

PRISON REFORM.

We are happy to say that we noticed in the 'Tribuna' of Wednesday some few remarks upon the lamentable state of our prisons, and we readily join with our colleague in calling for reform.

It is time, however, that some measures be taken to remodel our prison system. If we are to believe report, the place is at present full of cut-throats and assassins, and the judges will not sentence these ruffians to be executed, meanwhile the people have to pay for their support, and these felons live on the fat of the land.

Our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' however, is wrong. What we want, instead of prison improvement, is judicial reform. No man, of course, is at liberty to call the judges of the land a set of ruffians, but at least we can say that they are so slow in their decisions that the public welfare is endangered.

We thank our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' for taking the matter up, and would suggest that every month a general jail delivery should take place, the same as at home. Every prisoner should be brought forward, placed on his trial and either acquitted or condemned.

We hope the 'Tribuna' will take this matter up, and help us. We want a thorough judicial reform and a convict establishment. If the 'Tribuna' and 'Nacion Argentina' will support us we hope yet to see all the ruffians of Buenos Ayres engaged at the mouth of the Guazu in augmenting the exports of Buenos Ayres, instead of spending their time playing cards in the 'carcol' of this city.

STATE OF THE PAPER MONEY.

As it is to be supposed that some at least of our readers take an interest in the paper money question, we give the following official account of the state of our papier maché:

Table with 2 columns: Date, Amount. Rows include 1859 and 1861, Burned down to 9th September 1863, Deduct the amount burnt this month, Total.

There is therefore altogether in circulation about 356 millions of paper money, which the sooner burnt the better for the country at large.

PARANA.

We have received our files of 'El Litoral,' and can find nothing in them of any interest. Things, in that part of the world, are in a very ditch-watery state; in fact so dull, that the newspapers, departing from the general rule of allowing a man's bones to rest quietly for 25 years with his fathers before publicly criticising his character, have actually to write ex-Governor Urquiza's deeds and misdeeds.

The same authority says that a new Cicero has appeared to stun the world with his oratory, in the person of the new Governor, Don Jose Maria Dominguez; but then Don Evaristo Carrigo is such a way that there is no knowing when he is talking seriously.

The old nursery rhyme says that when the Count counts her money she fortifies her constitution by eating bread and honey. We suppose that the Parana Ministers of Finance, (instead of doing like hodmen when counting bricks and calling out "ten and tally," whenever they count a hundred, take a "matcateo.")

THE MURDER OF SOR AMIRON.

We have been favoured with some particulars of the horrible crime recently perpetrated in that part of our suburbs called Hucco de Cubéitas. It seems the unhappy victim was eating his dinner at a pulperia when two brothers named Yurrings, from the Lomas de San Isidro, came in. One of the ruffians got into dispute with Amiron, and the other suddenly coming behind the latter stabbed him in the back, unawares.

INDIANS.

On the 1st inst., the Indians again 'came down like wolves on the fold' in Tu, in the province of Cordoba. Comandante Nicolas Aminchastogu, writes as follows:—

"The Indians which have advanced to Lencinas, belong to the tribe of 'Avispa Negra' (Black Wasps), and some of the Tobas (Thistle) tribe. The Cacique had called a great meeting of Indians to invade the province of Santiago, and they were only awaiting the result of this 'malon,' than which nothing could be more favourable for them. They again made a dash on the 6th inst., and penetrated as far as Rio 4°, and entered the puesto of Sr. Eloy Avila, situated about 4 leagues from this place, in the Arroyo del Sud."—Tribuna.

Wasps, either black or white, and thistles, are not the most pleasant things in the world to have come in contact with one's 'epidermis.'

Haulage by Steam on Common Roads.

Another of those monster castings which this locality is daily becoming more celebrated, was recently drawn by steam along the 'public roads' from the foundry of Messrs R. & J. Harris, of Rotherham, to the works of Messrs. Bessener in this town.

hypocrite by the 'Progres' correspondent, and the only deduction probably from this is that the writer is utterly unacquainted with the life of More: on the contrary if this great man is admired for one quality more than another, it is for his justice and candour.

Rather than commit an act which his conscience forbade, he suffered the penalty of death, and this, with a serenity and equanimity of mind, that surely a hypocrite never could assume.

LOCAL EVENTS.

The Difficulty. The Progres says that Mr. Thornton finding his endeavors to arrange matters between this Republic and Uruguay unsuccessful; has withdrawn his note to this Government in which he offered to act as mediator.

Shameful attack. Three nights ago a vigilante gave a poor fellow a frightful cut on the head with his sabre. 'Nacion Argentina.' [These ruffians should be made to understand that elections do not last the whole year round.]

Maritime Intelligence. The French schooner Mathilde reports having spoken on March 30th the British vessel Appoline in Lat. 27 deg 57 m N. and Long 23 deg 53 m W. from London to Southampton. 13 days out.

To those of our readers, and there must be many, to whom this new system of haulage is interesting, and who have not themselves witnessed it in operation it may be necessary to state that the great advantage claimed for it arises solely from the adoption of the "Endless Railway" invented by the late James Boydell, formerly known as a large ironmaster in Staffordshire.

Patacos were very weak to-day, and would have fallen more had it not been for a few bulls whose interest it is to sustain the market.

ON 'CHANGE.

Total sales of the day, 65,500. There was very little business done on the Bolen to-day: the ounce brokers earned on an average 18 dols. mjc each.

The news per packet has a rather beneficial effect on our produce market; good wools are no longer to be had even at the extreme rates offered, but second class wools abound in the deposits and they are full of 'carcellilla,' but sell easily at from 80 to 90 per ar.

House property is depreciating in Buenos Ayres, notwithstanding that the population is increasing and the city improving. We attribute this to the scandalous neglect of the municipality to pave the streets.
