Nisi falsi andem nil veri non outem dicitur.—Cicero. SUNDAY, JULY 3, 1864.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

It is in vain that we attempt to disassemble our grief at the distressing condition of the once happy United States.

But out of courtesy to our American friends we try to shake off the gloom which the news by the last packet has created.

The unhappy civil war which now, for the last three years, has desolated that country, proves too clearly the frightful consequences which attend the triumph of democratic passion.

The rebellion of the South establishes beyond all manner of doubt, the unwieldy debility of democratic power.

We would fain shut our eyes to the sequel of the present struggle, but the news by last packet has dashed from us the last hope we cherished.

The world is witness that what the combined powers of Europe never dared to attempt the discussions of republicans themselves have effected.

The enemies of America may possibly wish to see the Southern General... The National Government seems at last anxious to do something towards fomenting immigration.

It is to be hoped that passion has at last done its worst, and that men will now listen to reason.

Previous to the commencement of this lamentable struggle, the footholds of Europe in America were extremely slender.

Verily, the war in the United States has not been a struggle between the North and the South, but a fight between Europe and America.

Americans, ye who still cling to the fixed principles of the immortal Washington, and the Government which he established.

There is great work going on in Congress at present, and an opposition party is at last raising its head.

The French mail closes on Monday, at 12 o'clock. Our extra numbers are delivered to subscribers this morning.

The news from Bragado, strange to say, is not as good as could be expected.

The new traction engine, 'El Buco,' is at last en route for Buenos Ayres.

The view of the Inauguration of the Southern Railway, in the 'Illustrated London News,' is the most mischievous attempt we have ever beheld.

The contractors of the Southern Railway, we hear, are pushing ahead too fast; they have 12 leagues of earthworks already finished.

Mr. Frías, Sr. Grognet, Sr. Castellanos, Dr. Perkins, Sr. Corvalan, Sr. Bragado, Sr. Larraga.

his paper more project, simply because the Government opposes it.

The Municipality of Zarate has sent in fifty thousand dollars to the Bank, to be set apart for building public schools in that thriving little town.

A friend of ours has called to say that he has a square league of land adjoining Mr. Fair's estancia in the Banda Oriental.

Argentine boilers, up to the present, don't prove the thing.

Mr. Marshall, in Barracas, is building another steamer, the engines and boilers out from England.

The diligences from the country towns in the South now invariably, when they get near the Barracas-bridge, hire bullocks, as the roads are so bad that the horses are no use.

Organization of Public Credit

Just 12 months ago the Argentine Congress, after long and stormy debates sanctioned a law with the above title.

By taking to a foreign market the Bonds of the Nat. Government, we shall not only give a patent proof of the faithful fulfilment of our promises.

In the River Plate interest always ranges so high, as almost to check mercantile transactions.

In London and the other great monetary capitals of Europe interest, in normal times, seldom touches 6 per cent.

The objection, that this would put us under English control, is hardly deserving notice, betraying an ignorance of the history of passing events.

The Minister of Finance is bound to put in force Article 28. It is formally passed into law—that is sufficient.

The Government has given to its creditors Bonds which up to the present are selling under half their expressed value.

On Friday night the store of Mr. Francis Mahon, Paseo Julio, was broken into.

The view of the Inauguration of the Southern Railway, in the 'Illustrated London News,' is the most mischievous attempt we have ever beheld.

Seventeen hundred shares of the Grand Central stock have been taken in Cordoba, of which 200 is by the Provincial Government.

Some months ago the store of Corti Riva adjoining the Capitania was broken into, and several articles including glazier's diamonds were stolen.

We are happy to learn that the burglars found nothing in Mr. Mahon's store, the till having been emptied the night before by its prudent owner.

The proceedings of the courts in this country are seldom or never published, and unhappily society is deprived of one of its chief safeguards against judicial tyranny or corruption.

In an obscure column of the most obscure of our daily papers we find the judicial list, which seldom claims the eye of any reader.

Miss Jane Young is summoned as witness for the trial of Juan Manuel Lopez, who murdered Mrs. Isabella Young in the district of Quilmes.

Don Isidoro Cordoba, (residence not known) is summoned to give evidence against Toribio Hernandez, charged with the murder of Geronimo Cayarno.

Manuel Perez is summoned for the third time to deliver himself up to arrest in the prison of San Nicolas.

Jose Albornoz is summoned for cattle-stealing at San Nicolas, but as he has dispensed the first summons he hardly means to attend.

Roman Moreno is cited for stabbing and wounding at San Nicolas.

Agustin Gomez is notified that in his absence he has been found guilty of cattle-stealing, along with Jose Borges.

Seventeen hundred shares of the Grand Central stock have been taken in Cordoba, of which 200 is by the Provincial Government.

Messrs. Duguid and Boyd suffered the most unheard-of hardships on the road. When starting from Rosario they had agreed for a private carriage.

Our countrymen, on arrival yesterday, were cordially welcomed by crowds of friends; they look much improved after their journey.

The beautiful and tragic romance of Schiller, set to music by the great master Verdi, was performed at Colon theatre on Friday night.

The overture was well played, the music partaking of a strange wildness, quite in keeping with the story.

Mme. Mollo was the graceful heroine, the village belle enamored of the Count's son (Lelmi), and ably she sustained the whole rendering of the opera which may be said to fall entirely on the prima donna.

Act II brings the terrible interview between the traitor Wurm and Luisita, which the latter learns that the Count has condemned her father to death unless she renounce Rodolfo.

Act III was also shorn of the 1st scene, but the ensuing duet between Walter and Mollo made amends, and was loudly applauded.

We have been requested to mention some circumstances respecting the dried beef thrown overboard at Liverpool in a putrid state.

It is clear, therefore, that we cannot have account of such shipments before the month of August.

It seems, however, that a certain Sor Biraben exports fresh beef (not dried) from Montevideo.

The collections for the Cordoba railway continue actively.

Return of Messrs. Boyd & Duguid. Seventeen hundred shares of the Grand Central stock have been taken in Cordoba.

The proprietor of the Grand Hotel du Louvre has taken it into his head to start a table d'hotel on the principle that what is good for Parisians must be so for Portenos.

months to bring our citizens into this more amiable and comfortable manner of performing the great work of the day—dinner.

The saloon, on the night, is nicely fitted up and lighted, and the table arrangements faultless. Nothing could be better than the bill of fare served up, and the wines were first-rate.

Every day at five o'clock (precisely) a capital dinner may here be obtained, and this is a decided improvement, for heretofore in B. Ayres sufficient importance was not attached to dinner.

Nay we remember "the rules of the house" obliging us to fast till next day.

M. Louis has introduced a notable improvement, and in animating him to persevere in his intention we would suggest for a motto over the saloon-door "men's conscia recti."

STOP THEE

$500 reward

On last Tuesday night some ruffian cut off one of the ears and shaved the tail and mane of a horse belonging to Mr. Archy Craig, cuartel 3, partido Carmen de Areco. The school master of the family had gone to a neighboring pulperia, and it is suspected some gauchos there committed the felony as a practical joke on a "gringo."

The above reward will be given on discovery, not of the horse, but of the miscreant.

STEAMER NEWS

Fairy leaves Montevideo every Tuesday for Buenos Ayres, with passengers for the ports of Parana and Uruguay. Fairy leaves Buenos Ayres every Wednesday for the ports of the Parana.

Pantero's scheme.

ON CHANGE. July 2nd, 1864. Price of ounces, 468. Price of sovereigns, 143. Paper money again depreciated to-day.

TIME SALES. For Monday 2,400 at 29 20. Friday 5,200 29 15. July 31st 16,000. 29 10. July 15th 6,000 29 15. Total sales, 120,427.

The depreciation of paper money is so steady that people are again beginning to be alarmed. If there was any revolution going on, or the prospect of any new emissions being made, we could better understand it; but, on the contrary, peace reigns throughout, and so far from any new emissions, four millions of the currency are to be burned on Monday.

Pecore are now beginning to open their eyes to the fact, that in Montevideo they are far ahead of us in monetary matters. Had we been struggling with a revolution, like the Montevidean Government, for the last year and a quarter, what would be the price of ounces? We venture to say, that they would be considered cheap at 700 dols. mtc.

Owing to the French packet leaving a week before her time, there has been very little done in exchange on England or France. The few bills which have been negotiated, have been done at former quotations.

PRODUCE SALES. 200 dry cow hides, camp $120. 150 do do 115. 100 do do 114. 400 qq jerked beef 21 s rls.
