FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1864.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The trial-trip of the Payon, we hear, will come off to-day or to-morrow. We are informed that she has undergone the most thorough and complete repairs and is in every sense of the word as good as new.

The Barraca diligencia has at last reduced the fare from ten to five dollars, as the roads have got so much better since the frost set in.

The finest building at present going on in the city is M. Lezama's quinta. However democratic this gentleman may be in his professions, he is determined to have a regal residence, for the magnificent house he is erecting in Calle Defensa is more like a palace than anything else.

The engineers of the Northern Railway are up at Zarate, surveying for the proposed extension. We cannot doubt that if the Northern Railway is prolonged to the thriving town of Zarate it will add ten fold to the importance of this line, as the richest sheep farming districts of the north will thus be connected with Buenos Ayres.

We are glad to be able to inform our readers that Consul Hutchinson's new work, entitled "Buenos Ayres and Argentine Gleanings, with Extracts from Journal of Salado expedition, 1802-1804," is about to be issued by the publishing house of Edward Stanford, Geographical Establishment and London School Library, Publisher to the Ordnance Department of Her Majesty's Government, 6 Charing Cross, London, W. S.

Urquiza's subscription for one thousand shares of the Argentine Central Railway throws all the great Buenos Ayrean capitalists completely in the shade, and proves that this much abused man has, after all, the advancement of the country at heart.

Since the celebrated attack of Pifero in the House on the Argentine Army, this Senator has been looked up to by his fellow legislators, as a sort of modern Julian.

The celebrated traction engine, El Buey, will soon be on shore and a trial trip made. We caution Mr. Bear against the Barracas road, as the mud and holes are truly awful, and several 'bueys' have already gone to grief on that muddy road.

The news from Montevideo is, after all not so alarming as given out. It appears that Pantaleon Perez, who had gone out to Flores, to witness the disarming of his men, by order of the Government, had not taken with him the treaty signed, consequently Flores refused to comply.

The telegraph to San Fernando is at last concluded, and we believe is handed over to the Government, for what purpose we know not, as the despatches from San Fernando are not to say of a very political character.

Things are coming to a pretty pass in the River Plate when silver mines are sold by auction to the highest bidder. It seems incredible at first, yet it is positively the fact, that on the 31st inst. two silver mines are advertised to be sold by auction in this city.

An accident occurred in the Custom House on Wednesday. One of the clerks fell out of the window. There was a time in Ireland when these accidents were very common, as the window was considered the shortest way down stairs.

The rumored robbery by the capataz of the Southern Railway has given us the greatest proof of the extreme vigilance of Sor Cazon, who, when he heard it, had all his prisoners closely examined to see if any of them might have the cut of a railway gauger about him, he also sent to the Company private advices of the steps he had taken.

LAND SALES IN ROSARIO.

So much importance is paid now to the value of real estate in the province of Santa Fe that we think the following sales which we find in the "Reforma Pacifica" will interest our readers.

bolivian dollars; the buyers are Englishmen, and are about to stock it. The land is situated in the Carcarata district. Camps lying 25 leagues from Rosario in the district of Molinuco, which last year would not realise 500 bolivians per square league, are now worth 1500 bolivians.

We think it right to call attention to the fact that the dearest piece of property above mentioned is worth ten times the price in Buenos Ayres, and the province of Santa Fe offers just as many advantages to the estanciaero as either or both of them.

MONTHLIES FOR JULY.

M. Palliere's album No. 4 contains two charming pictures. 'The Cathedral of Cordoba' gives a characteristic view of our 'city of churches' so famous for learning and devotion in the days of the Jesuits.

Mr. Brill has sent us the last number of Godé's Lady's book, which comes with its usual supply of engravings, fashions and light reading.

The Revista Pharmaceutica contains several papers written by Mr. Charles Murray, who advocates the creation of degrees of Bachelor and Doctor of Pharmacy, these however not giving the holder a right to practice medicine as a physician.

Next month we are promised the 1st No. of the Revista del Circulo Litorario, a polyglot production, compiled by the 180 gentlemen belonging to that Club.

Our Postmaster-General has received the following letter, dated Poson (Prussia), May 20th, 1864— My dear Posadas, varied an assemblage of literary efforts must prove interesting. Most of the papers will be in Spanish, the rest in French, English, German and Italian; and all on matters of the day, or subjects involving classical research.

The Revista de B. Ayres for July has not yet been given abroad, but we will review it as soon as received.

HORRIBLE! OH, HORRIBLE!

The Municipality ought to be locked up 'en masse' in the Policia, for the barbarities at present occurring, thanks to the shameful neglect of this body. We have it from eye-witnesses, that the road is so bad from the southern killing ground to Plaza Constitucion, that the meat carts are frequently obliged to throw out the flitches of beef into the mud, in order to extricate the vehicles from the cess-pools, pantanos, and holes into which they fall.

DOUBLE ASSASSINATION.

Camp murders are the order of the day, so that no one can affect surprise or annoyance at the title of this notice. We hear that the 'capataz' of Sor Machado's estancia at Salto, in this province, has been murdered.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

The murders took place on the 2nd inst. on Mr. Hastings' estancia priado of Salto. It is supposed the assassins were deserters from the army, as they left a rifle on the ground.

SR. OLIVERA'S LETTER.

Our Postmaster-General has received the following letter, dated Poson (Prussia), May 20th, 1864— My dear Posadas,

Your favor of February 26th, overtook me on the 13th ult. in a sheep-fold of Eastern Pomerania.

Give my best regards to our mutual friend Mr. John Hannah, for his kind letter from Rancho, with such valuable information about the Merino breed introduced into B. Ayres.

Yours sincerely, EDUARDO OLIVERA.

The Danu-German Question—The Conference.

The Times says:—"As the month of suspended hostilities which it required so much negotiation to obtain passes away, the prospects of a satisfactory result of the Conference do not improve. It is impossible to resist the conviction that the German Powers attended the Conference with a pre-determination to elude all terms and conditions, even those to which they gave the mockery of their assent."

The foreigner arriving in B. Ayres must be struck with the splendid efforts to rival Paris or London, and may ask with reason what are the sources of wealth? Does the Argentine cultivate his soil? No! Does he raise cattle? Yes! in abundance, but he has neither pasture nor provision against the droughts which happen so frequently.

Statistics and the study of practical economy, in national products and commerce, are unheeded, for the great men of B. Ayres only study 'ideas,' and are totally ignorant of the value of our rural or commercial interests, leaving such things to Maxwell and Perdriel.

The Rosario Exhibition ought to be supported; the site is good for industrial display, being new ground: no palaces are needed, even in the open camp would not be amiss.

The organization of Pomerania is strange. Each establishment covers about half a square league, with 100 or 150 inhabitants, who have their church, school, and village, but never come to own the soil, which belongs to a noble, usually much more wealthy than the richest men in Buenos Ayres.

Some days ago we noticed that Gen. Urquiza had promised, in 1861, to contribute the above sum for a railroad to Cordoba. We have now to announce that in fulfillment of his word, he has paid the deposit on 1,000 shares, or double the total number taken by Argentine capitalists in this city!

LETTER FROM MONTEVIDEO.

We have seen a letter dated 6th inst stating there was little hope of peace being made. President Aguirre refused to dismiss his ministry, and Flores protested against the admission of Gen. Lamas to the cabinet, as being his personal enemy.

STOP THREE!

To the Editors of the 'Standard,' Luxan, July 4, 1864.

Gentlemen, I take the liberty of cautioning my countrymen in the camp, and the public in general, of a system that I thought long forgotten, but is, I regret to say, renewed again.

Five days ago, there came to my house a young man of a very genteel appearance, seeking employment as shepherd, saying that he learned to mind sheep in the Banda Oriental, had left on account of the war, and came over to Buenos Ayres, where he was for six months in a very respectable house as steward.
